CONGRESS THEME

Sustainability through Innovation for European Healthcare

On May 22 and 23, we warmly invite you to the 34th ZORG.tech Congress and the 11th IFHE-EU Conference on Healthcare Engineering, in Antwerp.

This two-day international congress centers on the theme

“Sustainability through Innovation for European Healthcare”.

Leading professionals, experts, and stakeholders from the healthcare and technical sectors will present the latest developments, innovations, and sustainability initiatives in European healthcare.

Through keynote speeches by prominent speakers, we will explore how cutting-edge technologies, sustainable designs, and best practices enhance the efficiency, resilience, and environmental sustainability of healthcare facilities all across Europe.

This congress offers a unique opportunity to share knowledge and to network while discussing policy issues, regulations, and strategies that promote sustainability in healthcare. Moreover, at our ongoing trade fair, the most innovative ideas and solutions in the field will be showcased.

Antwerp, with its rich history and cosmopolitan atmosphere, is the perfect setting for this crucial exchange of knowledge.

We encourage all participants to actively engage in the various sessions, workshops and roundtable discussions to boost sustainable healthcare in Europe.

Make sure not to miss out on this prestigious international event.

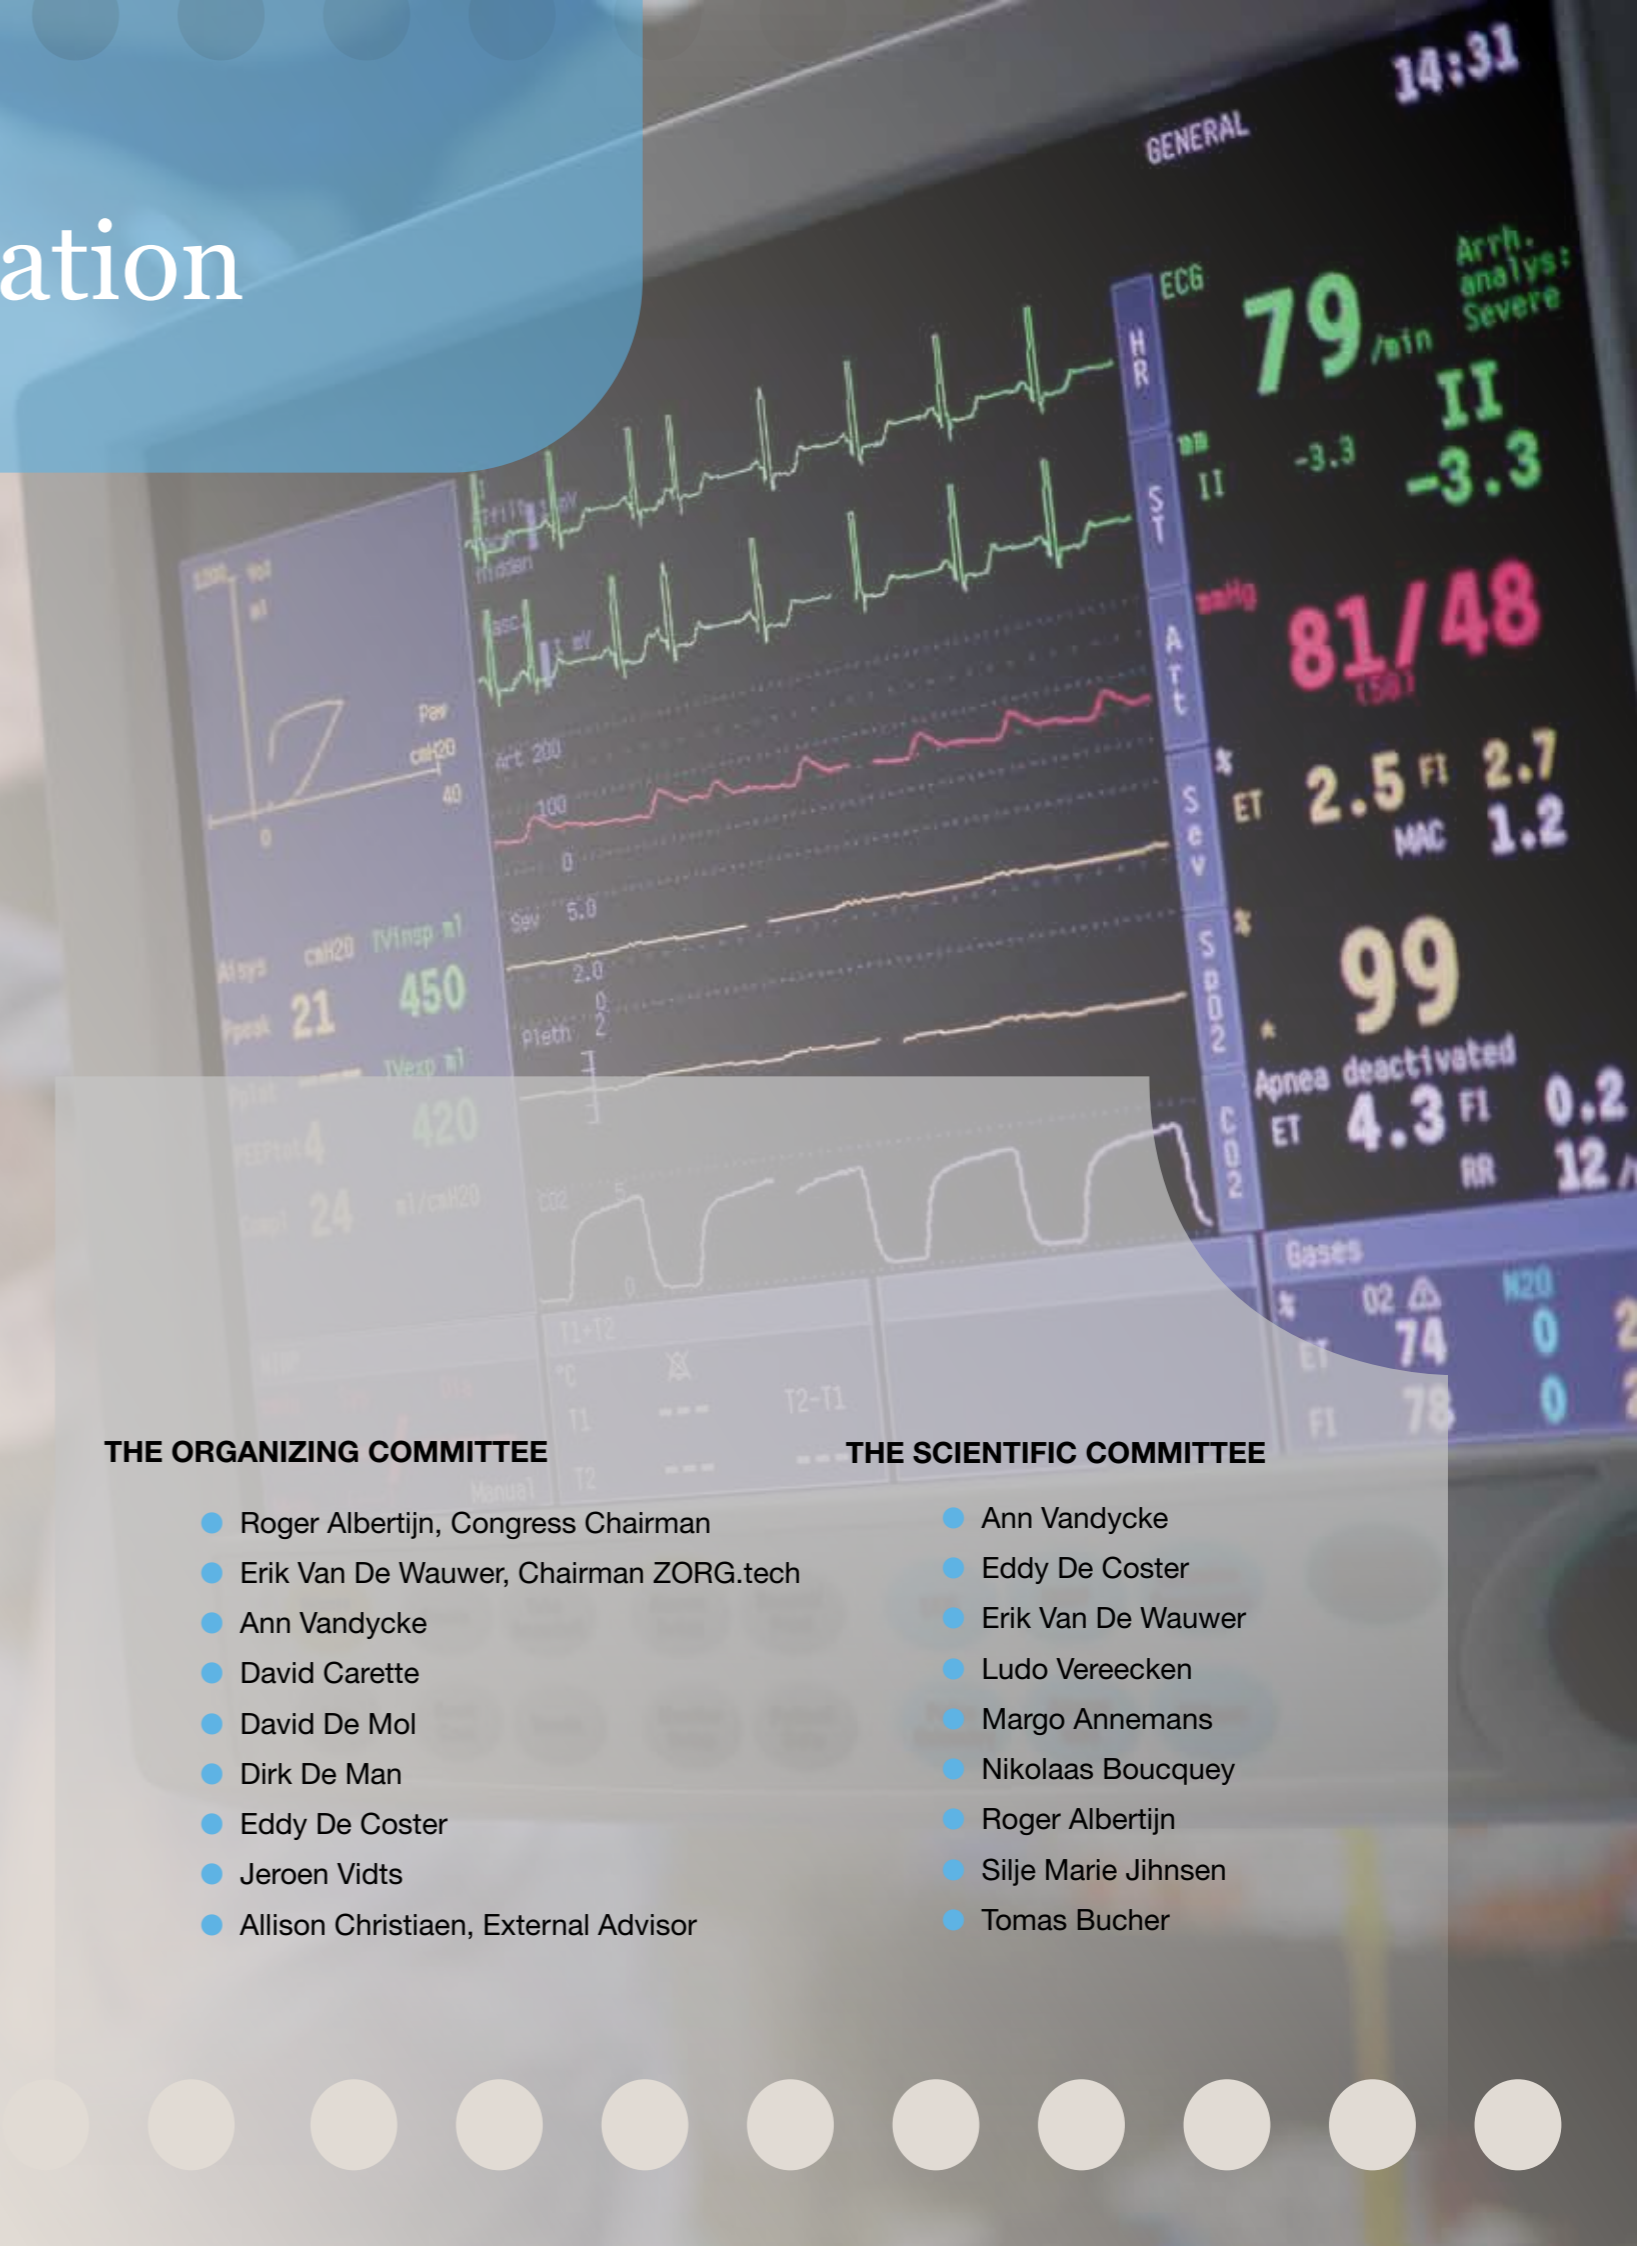

We are eagerly counting down the days and look forward to welcoming you in person in Antwerp in 2025!
